

Restoring American Education

RestoringAmericanEducation.org

Restoring American Education is an initiative by the Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty (WILL) to close a critical gap by engaging parents, school board members and teachers with an understanding of concerns and trends in education, while providing model school board policies and other resources to produce positive change at the local level.

School Boards

WILL develops and periodically updates model policies to enhance parental involvement, increase transparency, optimize academic achievement, and improve governance. WILL also provides FAQ resources covering topics like Title IX. Visit SchoolBoardPolicies.org to learn more.

Teachers

WILL provides original research reports and also collaborates with teachers to ensure that American classrooms are places of respect and sincere inquiry. Resources cover topics like teacher licensure, alternative prep materials for educators, and analyses of social studies curricula.

Parents

WILL has created a one-stop-shop to support parents and educate them about their rights. Our parent resources include the Wisconsin School Scorecard, customizable templates to help facilitate engagement with schools, and links to resources from legal and policy experts nationwide.
